

MUSIC, ARTS & CULTURE

Credit: BRIC JazzFest

BRIC JAZZFEST

October 19-26

647 Fulton Street, Brooklyn

Tickets: $25-$70

This weeklong celebration of jazz includes movie screenings, poetry readings and conversations with musicians and critics, but the centerpiece is the three nights of concerts by more than 20 performers, including Ravi Coltrane, Kneebody, Makaya McCraven and Georgia Anne Muldrow.

MoMA REOPENING

October 21

11 West 53rd Street

Tickets: Free - $25

Following months of renovation, MoMA's flagship Manhattan location is reopening with an additional 40,000 square feet of gallery space. Among the opening-day exhibits will be "Betye Saar: The Legends of Black Girl's Window," featuring the artist's earlier work as a printmaker, and "Private Lives Public Spaces," an installation of home movies and other amateur films from 1907 to 1991.

Credit: TEFAF

TEFAF NEW YORK FALL

November 1-5

Park Avenue Armory, 643 Park Avenue

Tickets: TBD

Founded by a group of art dealers as the European Fine Art Fair in the Netherlands, TEFAF now produces spring and autumn shows in New York as well. The fall show spotlights fine art, furnishings and jewelry from antiquity to 1920; the dealers, from Africa, Asia, Europe and the Americas, are carefully vetted so that you can be certain of each item's authenticity.